Response for Prosecutors and Courts

Webinar — Maintaining Relationships with Crime Victims During the COVID-19 Pandemic

Date: Thursday, January 14, 2021

Time: 2:00-3:00 PM EDT

The COVID-19 pandemic has raised new issues and exacerbated persisting challenges for prosecutors, who are consistently faced with the task of preparing cases that are victim-centered. Throughout the current public health crisis, prosecutors and court staff have expressed concerns about connecting with and maintaining relationships with victims of crimes, especially victims of intimate partner violence. Please join us on Thursday, January 14, 2020 from 2:00-3:00 PM EDT as our panelists discuss strategies to address and mitigate issues such as:

- delayed reporting due to fears that the partner would be arrested and, thus, potentially exposed to COVID-19.
- defendants being released and the potential for re-victimization.
- privacy concerns.
- ensuring the victims are receiving appropriate services.
- maintaining a prosecutor-victim relationship that leads to trust.

This webinar will be an interactive session featuring Patti Powers and Jon Kurland, AEquitas Attorney Advisors. To ensure that we are addressing your concerns, please share any specific topics that you would like addressed during the virtual discussion (e.g. specific questions on recants). Please enter your questions when you register.

Note: There is no cost of attendance for this webinar.

Patti Powers

Patricia D. Powers presents on trial strategy, legal analysis and policy, and ethical issues related to the prosecution of intimate partner violence, sexual violence, and stalking. Prior to working with AEquitas, Ms. Powers served as a Senior Deputy Prosecuting Attorney and Supervising Attorney for the Sexual Assault-Domestic Violence Unit in Yakima County, Washington. During her twenty-seven years as a trial attorney, Ms. Powers focused primarily on sexual assault, domestic violence and child and adult homicides, including complex litigation of high profile and cold cases with frequent use of expert testimony. As a prosecutor, Ms. Powers served as a member of the child fatality and domestic violence fatality review committees and the Washington State Technical Assistance Committee for Child Death Review Guidelines. She was a co-founder and co-chair of the Yakima County Sexual Assault Task Force.

Jon Kurland

Jonathan H. Kurland is an Attorney Advisor with AEquitas. Prior to joining AEquitas, Jonathan worked in the District Attorney's Office of Berks County, Pennsylvania where he started as an Assistant District Attorney and prosecuted the range of cases typical for a jurisdiction with a combination of urban, suburban, and rural communities. However, over time, Jonathan's focus increasingly trended to violent crime and cases involving the most vulnerable and exploited of victims. When Jonathan left after sixteen years in the District Attorney's Office to join AEquitas, he was the Chief Deputy District Attorney and supervised, advised, and still prosecuted matters involving intimate partner violence and homicides, sexual violence, child abuse, and grand jury investigations. During his time in the Berks County District Attorney's Office, Jonathan helped to develop collaboration between prosecutors, law enforcement, victim advocacy, medical professional, and other community stakeholders particularly through serving as the office lead for a variety of victim-focused multidisciplinary investigative teams and other community-based collaborative efforts focusing on intimate partner violence, sexual violence, child abuse, and human trafficking.
