

The Alaska Department of Law is recruiting to fill prosecutor positions in several locations in the state. These positions require frequent court appearances in the superior and district courts. There is significant trial work, pre-trial motion practice, daily court hearings and some post-conviction and appellate work. There are opportunities for travel to rural court locations. Prior prosecutorial experience is not required. These positions require the ability think critically and reason logically; the ability to communicate clearly verbally and in writing; the ability to organize, prioritize, and work effectively in a deadline controlled atmosphere; and the ability to manage numerous matters simultaneously. A generous benefits package is included. Salary is determined by experience and location but ranges from $64,000-$135,000.
