About the Program

The Yavapai County Attorney's Office is committed to transparency of our criminal case data and status. As part of that effort, the Office developed an interactive public website that features information on all felony and misdemeanor cases. The website includes a series of charts and graphs that show aggregate details for our cases, a searchable feature that allows the user to locate current information on a specific case or defendant, and a mapping feature that assists the user to drill through summary information or access case lists with specific case data. The website is linked to our case management system and automatically updates every 24 hours and can be accessed at: <https://www.yavapaiaz.gov/YCCoAtty/CaseStats.htm>.

Sheila Polk, Yavapai County Attorney, explained the benefits of the public access website by stating: "This website has proven its value time and again, whether it is timely access to case information by victims of crimes, by family members of an accused, or media requests for information. What I especially enjoy is the complete transparency in providing up-to-date information about cases handled by our office, including the graphs that show, at a glance, the ratio of probation versus prison sentences for offenders and the most frequently charged felonies."
